

Settler Violence

Settler violence has always been a tremendous problem because the settlers are able to act with impunity toward Palestinians...Recently in Hebron, eighty armed settlers trashed the homes of two Palestinian families. Five Palestinians were hospitalized, including a two year old who was thrown out of a window. Involved in this incident was a government official, who is also a rabbi. The police let the settlers, these so-called religious men, go with no arrests, despite the injuries they inflicted.

Settlers light fire to Palestinian olive groves.

Israeli settler violence against Palestinians, their homes and property is not just limited to Hebron. It is on the streets of Jerusalem and in the olive groves of the West Bank and Gaza.

Settler woman and child team up to assault this Palestinian pedestrian.

The Sobih family vacates their village of Hirbat Yunan after 4 years of worsening attacks by Jewish settlers who have set up illegal outposts on nearby hilltops. The gentleman in the backseat with a headscarf covering his right eye lost sight in that eye after a beating from an Israeli settler.

Entire Village Flees

Groups of masked Jewish settlers have charged into the village (Hirbat Yunan), coming at night with dogs and horses, stealing sheep, hurling stones through windows, and beating the men with fists and rifle butts. An electricity generator has been scorched by fire, knocking out power to the village. Three large water tanks were tipped over and emptied.

Due to the increased violence, the entire village, once home to 25 families, is vacating.

Associated Press

Israeli Tanks

Running from them....

Resisting them...

